French Leader in Workwear Clothing, Mulliez-Flory, Selects Gerber Technology's YuniquePLM

NEW YORK, May 12, 2016 – Gerber Technology, the world leader in integrated software and automated solutions for the apparel and industrial markets, announced that French brand, Mulliez-Flory[®], has selected YuniquePLM to manage its entire value chain, from creation to delivery.

For nearly 200 years, Mulliez-Flory has been a key player in Europe's professional wear industry, outfitting over a million workers every year in the automotive, travel, food, energy, public services, agriculture, hospitality and human services industries. In order to unify its teams and processes, Mulliez-Flory turned to YuniquePLM.

"We produce an average of over 3,500 prototypes every year across over 30 manufacturing facilities", said CEO Jacques GINDRE. Jacques GINDRE continued, "communication between our production and design teams with our vendors is absolutely crucial. YuniquePLM will enable us to reduce sample creation time and reduce errors across all of our sites."

Bill Brewster, vice president and general manager of Enterprise SW said, "We are thrilled to work alongside one of the most seasoned companies in France. With our team of industry experts in France and Europe, we are able to deliver the most innovative solutions as well as responsive support." Bill continued, "By having information and the center of communication in one location, companies of all sizes are able to reduce errors, miscommunication and ultimately increase their speed to market."
